Philly Dance Fitness will host a Lady Gaga-themed dance class on March 4. Attendees to the 90-minute cardio dance workshop will learn routines set to Gaga's biggest hits.

Expect to dance to music from her latest album "Joanne" and chart-toppers like "Born This Way," "Poker Face" and "Just Dance."

If time permits, the instructors will also teach a modified routine of Gaga's music video choreography for "Judas."

Participants are encouraged to dress in their best and wackiest Gaga-inspired outfits for the class. There are some rules, though.

"Please note that despite Gaga's past penchants for nudity and raw meat, for sanitary reasons, you must actually wear some clothing. And any meat must be fully cooked," the Facebook event page states.

No dance experience is needed to attend the class. Anyone 13 and older can register to attend.
